

2007: Santa on trial for bad toys...?

Naah...The people who do serious damage in the world almost never face justice...

The real crime here is the outsourcing of all those elf jobs to China—but the North Pole economy is still afloat thanks to the gizillian dollar Chinese investment in Christmas bonds—leaving its residents complacent while the polar ice cap melts down from underneath...

If only that global warming would extend to people's hearts...

Notes:

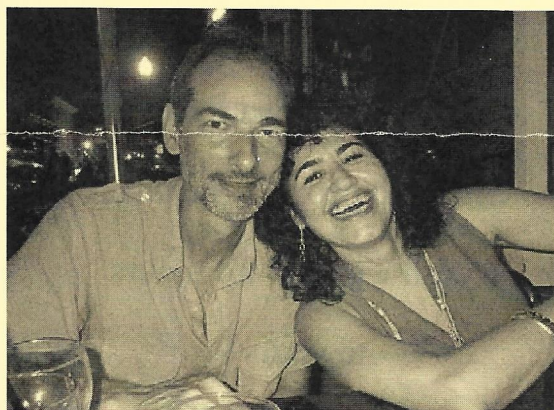

1. Many tens of millions of toys made in China (by American companies) were recalled this year for hazardous features.
2. How much is a gizillion?
3. In the interests of national security, we disclose that the unidentified deer was a resident of Valley Forge Park on Thanksgiving Day 2007.
4. Far right: three smiling ladies, ani with nieces araxi, lenna.
